PREFACE

In compiling and publishing the biographies of approximately 1,500 conspicuous living Iowans in this, the initial, edition of WHO'S WHO IN IOWA, the editors and publishers, pioneering in the Iowa field, have had to contend with obstacles too numerous to enumerate. It is with considerable satisfaction, therefore, that a start is made on a permanent Iowa reference work which shall present concisely, accurately and completely any information concerning its notable citizens and which shall be revised from time to time in the interest of up-to-dateness.

WHO'S WHO IN IOWA, it is confidently vouchsafed, is the first biographical volume ever published in this state, in which the element and purpose of commercialism are not dominant. Knowing that a biographical reference work, to be of real value and to become permanent, would have to be based on a different principles, the compilers of this work resolved at the outset to make actual merit and eligibility the sole gateway to its pages. Meritorious achievement therefore was adopted as the only price of admission, and that rule has been tenaciously adhered to. Not a line of paid matter appears in this volume, and the compilers pride themselves that in every case where an attempt was made to purchase one's way into the book, the offer was promptly rejected.

Realizing that the first obstacle to be overcome would be the suspicion that WHO'S WHO IN IOWA was but another disguise for the ubiquitous commercial county "history," with which every community had been surfeited, the publishers sought to inaugurate the work in a favorable light by acquainting the leading educators and historians of the state with its true purpose and procuring their indorsement. Once these educational authorities were convinced that WHO'S WHO IN IOWA was to be a non-commercial, accurate and informative reference work, in which merit was the sole consideration in the selection of biographical subjects, their enthusiastic indorsement was gladly given. The publishers herewith desire to acknowledge their debt of gratitude to the following notable Iowans who lent their assistance to the compilation of the volume: Johnson Brigham, state librarian; Benjamin F. Shambaugh, superintendent of the Iowa Historical Society; Dr. Raymond A. Pearson, president of Iowa State College, and Dr. W. A. Jessup, president of Iowa State University.

With painstaking care and dogged persistence, the work of singling out the really prominent Iowans and inviting them to contribute biographical sketches to WHO'S WHO IN IOWA then was begun. No one not connected with this task could have even an approximately correct idea of the enormous amount of labor which has been required in the consummation of this undertaking.

To assemble biographical information about the 2,500 leading citizens of Iowa entailed endless research. No one, half dozen or 100 persons in Iowa alone could furnish this information. So the plan of selecting one trustworthy person in each community and asking him to nominate the local subjects worthy of biographing was resorted to. This plan was only partially successful. In ninety per cent of the cases, the person to whom the request was addressed obligingly submitted a list of nominees, but whether his selections were ill advised or whether a suspicious hostility toward all biographical works existed, the subject so selected in most cases appeared indifferent toward the request for sketches. This condition persisted, despite the fact that not only were the selected subjects not required to purchase admission to the book, but they were not in any way obligated to purchase a book after it should have been published. Of course, the compilation of this data entailed a considerable expense, and the selected subjects were given an opportunity, if they desired, to make a payment on the purchase of a volume, but particular stress was laid on the proposition that no payments whatsoever were necessary, that no one could buy his way into the book, and that regardless of whether they purchased a book, their sketches, if submitted, would be published.

In hundreds of instances, second and third "follow up" letters were required, before this biographical sketch would be forthcoming. To secure sketches of others, various methods were employed. In several of the larger cities representatives were engaged to procure the data desired. Dr. G. Walter Barr, educator and writer, rendered particularly brilliant service in the Keokuk field. Workers in other cities also co-operated splendidly to enable the biographers to obtain a representative list of subjects. But, in spite of the realization that much has been accomplished under the most trying of difficulties, the biographers must confess a certain amount of disappointment that the work does not cover its field and purpose as well as it might.

For the information of those who are not entirely familiar with the precise purpose of a non-commercial biographical reference work, WHO'S WHO IN IOWA aims to give a brief, crisp personal sketch (devoid of verbiage and fulsomeness) of the leading living Iowans, both men and women in all parts of the state, telling just the things every intelligent person wants to know about those who are most conspicuous in every community and in every walk of life. Names of all federal, state, county, and city officials, of course, are arbitrarily admitted. No difficulty is encountered in this classification. It is with the other class that a fine sense of selection is exercised and will continue to be exercised in future editions of this volume.

As a reference work, WHO'S WHO IN IOWA expects to fill a place of usefulness in educational institutions, newspaper offices, public libraries, private homes, and commercial offices. In these pages an attempt is made to mirror the life of the state in all its phases, the developments of science and industry, the development of literature and art and business. The best educational authorities recognize the value of high ideals, as exemplified in the lives of successful men and women. An attentive reading of the life sketches in this volume discloses many extraordinary examples of industry which are overlooked in a cursory reading, but which nevertheless are full of suggestion for the thoughtful mind. Many deeds of noble and beneficient achievement are recorded in these life histories; and here are also chronicled thousands of activities which might be emulated with profit, not only by the youth of the country, but by all classes of citizenship.

As an infant must stand before it can toddle and toddle before it can walk, WHO'S WHO IN IOWA expects to expand and develop into larger fields of usefulness now that it has reached the standing stage. The publishers invite suggestions of improvement, new names and notice of any errors which may have crept into the initial volume. The next edition will be "bigger and better," it is hoped. However, the publishers, in conclusion, desire to express satisfaction that a start has been made on a permanent Iowa biographical work.

Attention is called to the alphabetical arrangement of the sketches, and to the list of names of biographical subjects, who were nominated for inclusion in the book, but who neglected to submit their sketches. The publishers trust that these persons will be sufficiently impressed by the high standard and useful purposes of this, the first edition, that they will contribute their life sketches to the next.

The publishers desire to call attention to the educational section of this volume. Iowa has reason to feel proud of its seats of learning, but we believe that Iowans do not appreciate the wonderful advantages offered within the borders of their own state. For that reason we gladly give space to the colleges and universities of Iowa.

Explanatory Note

THE Publishers call attention to the fact that biographical matter will be found in two sections of the book. This arrangement was necessitated for the reason that many biographies were received after the copy had been turned over to the printer and part of the book published. This arrangement, however, permits publication of many sketches that otherwise would have been omitted.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT

STATE UNIVERSITY—IOWA CITY

Walter Albert Jessup, Ph. D., President.

The State University of Iowa is an integral part of the public school system of the state. As contemplated in its establishment, the work of the university is based upon the preparation afforded by the duly accredited high schools of the state, whose students are admitted to the undergraduate and professional courses upon the presentation of the proper certificates—except in the colleges of medicine and law, which require two years of collegiate work in preparation. The state, through the university, undertakes to furnish instruction in the various branches requisite for an education in the liberal arts, law, medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, fine arts, nursing, commerce, engineering, etc. It also aims to encourage research work in all departments.

The university embraces the following colleges and schools: The Graduate College; the College of Liberal Arts; the College of Law; the College of Medicine; the College of Homeopathic Medicine; the College of Dentistry; the College of Pharmacy; the College of Applied Science; the College of Education; the School of Commerce; the Schools for Nurses (Medical and Homeopathic Medical); the School of Music.

Integral parts of the institution are also: The summer session, including the Iowa Lakeside Laboratory at Lake Okoboji, the School for Library Training.

The Graduate College unites the university's equipment for advanced study and research, its courses beginning where the courses in the other colleges end. It offers work leading to the degrees of M. A., M. S., and Ph. D.

Th College of Liberal Arts is the center around which the university has grown. It offers upwards of three hundred liberal and vocational courses in the arts and sciences, these courses leading to the degree of B. A., and B. S., the latter only in connection with combined courses in liberal arts and professional studies (see below).

The College of Law offers a course of three years leading to the degree of LL. B. For admission two years of study in a liberal arts college are required.

The College of Medicine offers a course of four years leading to the degree of M. D. The college is recognized by the American Medical Association in "Class A." Two years of liberal arts study are required for admission.

The College of Homeopathic Medicine offers a course of four years, leading to the degree of M. D. Its departments of surgery, obstetrics and gynecology, ophthalmology, etc., materia medica, and theory and practice of medicine have been established by statute. Its other departments (anatomy, physiology, bacteriology, etc.,) are shared with the College of Medicine.

The College of Dentistry offers a course of four years leading to the degree of D. D. S. The college is one of the six leading dental colleges in the country which meet the standards of the Dental Faculties Association of American Universities.

The College of Pharmacy offers a two years' course leading to the degree of Ph. G., and a three years' course leading to the degree of Ph. C.

The College of Applied Science offers courses in civil, sanitary, mechanical, electrical and general engineering, and in chemistry. These are each of four years and lead to the degree of B. E. A five-year course is also arranged. Advanced degrees are given in C. E., M. E., etc.

The College of Education unites the various facilities of the university for the training of teachers, with special reference to administrative work and the higher positions. Its courses lead to the certificate of the College of Education.

The School of Commerce, established in September, 1914, is organized within the College of Liberal Arts and its course leads to the degree of B. S. in Commerce.

The Schools for Nurses are two in number, one conducted in the university hospital under the direction of the faculty of the College of Medicine, the other in the university of homeopathic hospital under the direction of the faculty of the College of Homeopathic Medicine.

The School of Music is a part of the College of Liberal Arts. It offers courses in piano, voice, pipe organ, violin, band instruments, and in the history and theory of music.

The Summer Session of two terms, one of six weeks, from June 16 to July 26, the other four weeks, from July 28 to August 23, is a regular session of the university. The session also includes the Iowa Lakeside Laboratory and the School for Library Training.

"Combined courses" in Liberal Arts and professional studies permit the attainment in a shortened period of the double degrees of B. S. or B. A. and M. D.; B. A. and LL. B.; B. S. and D. D. S.; B. S. and B. E.; and D. D. S. and M. D.

IOWA STATE COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE AND MECHANIC ARTS—AMES

Raymond Allen Pearson, D. of Agr., LL. D., President.

The college is governed by the state board of education consisting of nine members appointed by the governor. The work of the college is conducted along the following five major lines:

Agriculture, Engineering, Home Economics, Industrial Science, Veterinary Medicine.

Graduate and Undergraduate Courses.

In each of these five major lines stated above, collegiate and graduate instruction is given, leading to Bachelor's, Master's and Doctor's degrees.

Graduate instruction is adapted to the needed requirements of candidates for different degrees. Undergraduate or collegiate instruction is given in four-year, five-year and six-year courses offered in the different divisions of the college, and jointly between divisions. Graduate and undergraduate courses are fully described in the college catalog, and include courses in agricultural education, agricultural engineering, animal husbandry, ceramics, chemical engineering, dairying, electrical engineering, farm crops and soils, farm management, forestry, home economics, horticulture, industrial science, mechanical engineering, mining engineering, structure design, and veterinary medicine.

Non-Collegiate Course.

These courses are offered especially for young men and women who have not completed the requirements for admission to collegiate courses. They include two year courses in Agriculture, vocational work in Engineering, Home Economics, Rural Structure Design, and one year courses in Dairying, Beekeeping and Livestock Management.

Summer Session.

The summer session is divided into two six weeks periods in which some courses especially adapted to public school teachers are offered, including work in Agriculture, Home Economics, Manual Training, Industrial Science, and Vocational Education, work for rural and grade teachers. Special attention is given to collegiate and graduate courses.

Winter Short Courses.

These are given at different times on different subjects with one special week known as Short Course or Convention Week.

Agricultural Experiment Station.

Charles Franklin Curtiss, B. Sc., D. S., Director, Ames.

The Iowa Agricultural Experiment Station was established in accordance with an act of congress, approved March 2, 1887, for the purpose of aiding "In acquiring and diffusing among the people of the United States useful and practical information on subjects connected with agriculture, and to promote scientific investigation and experiments respecting the principles and application of agricultural science."

The work of the Agricultural Experiment Station now includes the following lines of investigation: Farm crops and soils, farm management, animal husbandry, horticulture and forestry, agricultural engineering, botany, dairying, entomology, chemistry, bacteriology, rural sociology, and agricultural economics. The results of investigations and experiments along these lines are published in bulletins and circulars which are distributed free to all residents of the state who apply for them.

The work in the Agricultural Experiment Station is of direct service to the agricultural interests in the state and nation. The results of experiment station investigations serve as the basis for agricultural instruction from the standpoint of both the college and extension work. It is now universally recognized that little progress can be made by agricultural colleges, either in teaching their students or in carrying information directly to farmers, until definite data has been secured concerning the scientific and practical problems which constitute the basis of our present day agriculture.

Engineering Experiment Station.
Including Good Roads Experimentation.

Anson Marston, C. E., Director, Ames.

The Engineering Experiment Station was established at the Iowa State College by the legislature of Iowa in 1904 to afford a service, through scientific investigations, evolution of new devices and methods, educational information on technical subjects and tests and analysis of materials; for the manufacturing and other engineering population and industries of Iowa; for the agricultural industries of the state in the solution of their engineering problems; for the urban and rural population of the state in the solution of the engineering problems of urban and rural life.

From the first the station has carried on original investigations along lines of vital interest to the people of Iowa, including drainage, sewerage and sewerage disposal, water supply, roads and road traffic, pavements, bridges, clay products, concrete materials and other materials of construction, lighting, steam and electric power, engineering economics and others. The results have been published in more than fifty bulletins for free distribution. Any of these bulletins not out of print will be sent free upon request addressed to Director Anson Marston, Engineering Experiment Station, Ames, Iowa.

The station has given special attention to water supply, sewerage and lighting for farm homes.

For many years the station has made tests and analysis of construction and other materials for state departments, counties, townships, cities, factories, corporations and individual citizens of Iowa. The charges for such tests are at least equal to those charged by responsible commercial testing laboratories, as the station will not assume the role of competitor with commercial laboratories. The station stands ready to make check tests or to act as final authority on questions of this nature, but would prefer that all routine tests be made by outside laboratories. The amount and character of the testing work is so restricted as not to interfere seriously with the investigational work.

Veterinary Investigations.

C. H. Stange, Dean.

This work was organized under provisions made by the thirty-fifth general assembly. Considerable information concerning hemorrhagic septicemia in cattle has been secured, a serum produced and a number of herds treated. Other diseases have been studied and much time has been given to hog cholera and complications of this disease.

Extension Work.

R. A. Pearson, President.

The extension work of the Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts is divided into two branches—agriculture extension and engineering extension.

Agricultural Extension.

R. K. Bliss, Director.

The agricultural extension work was established permanently by enactment of the thirty-first general assembly of Iowa. This act provided for giving lectures and demonstrations on the growing of crops and fruits, on stock raising, dairying, land drainage and kindred subjects, including domestic science. Specific mention was made in this act on instruction in corn and stock judging at the agricultural fairs, institutes and clubs and aid in conducting short courses of instruction at suitable places throughout the state.

Engineering Extension.

D. C. Faber, Acting Director.

The thirty-fifth general assembly of Iowa provided an appropriation for the establishment of engineering extension and trade school work. Two-year courses in trades and industry are conducted at the college for young men wishing to prepare themselves for expert positions in industrial lines. Short courses of instruction and technical institutes are conducted in industrial centers. Technical information is supplied municipalities and civic organizations. Bulletins of information are issued from time to tme.

Hog Cholera Serum Plant.

C. H. Stange, Drector.

This work was started under an appropriation of $35,000 made by the thirty-fifth general assembly for the production of biological products, especially hog cholera serum. The plant is self-supporting. Permanent buildings have been erected. Up to December 31, 1918, 25,730,357 cubic centimeters of serum had been produced. This serum was used in treating 10,091 herds.

State Apiarist.

Appointed by the State Board of Education. Term at pleasure of Board. Appropriation $1,500 annually.

F. Erick Millen, of Ames, Story County.

It is the duty of the apairist to give lectures and demonstrations in the state of Iowa on the production of honey, the care of the apiary, the marketing of honey, and upon other kindred subjects relative to the care of bees and the profitable production of honey. Also, upon request the apiarist shall examine the bees in a locality suspected of being affected with any of the contagious diseases common to bees. It is the duty of the apiarist to furnish the owner of the bees, without cost, written instructions in regard to the nature of the disease and the best methods of treating it. It is a misdemeanor of anyone to fail to properly take care of a colony of diseased bees or in other ways cause the spread of contagious diseases among bees.

IOWA STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE—CEDAR FALLS.

President—Homer H. Seerley, M. A., LL. D.

This institution was founded in 1876 as a school for the instruction and training of teachers for the public schools. It used the title of Iowa State Normal School from 1876 to 1909 and since that time the title Iowa State Teachers College, authorized by an act of the general assembly. It is a college in its standards as to graduating with a degree from its courses, though it admits and instructs teachers and grants diplomas of special varieties for all classes of teachers, rural and elementary, needed by the public schools. For admission to college courses, graduation from an accredited high school is required. For admission to sub-collegiate courses and rural teachers work an elementary education is required.

The institution is organized to give teacher education and training and does not undertake any other kind of educational work. Its courses are to give efficiency and capability to the students as workers in public schools. Its field of service grants preparation to high school teachers, to elementary and primary teachers, and to all kinds of special teachers now demanded by the public schools of the state. Its plan is that of a vocational school and everything that is done has a bearing upon the training of young men and women for service in the system of public education maintained in the state. Its degree graduates are admitted without conditions to the graduate schools of the universities and its alumni hold important positions in public service in every state where they are employed. Its diplomas are Bachelor of Arts in Education, Special Teacher Diplomas such as Primary, Junior College, Kindergarten, Art, Public School Music, Manual Arts, Home Economics, Physical Education, Commercial, Rural Education, Rural Teacher and Normal Course. In addition music teachers are granted diplomas for piano, organ, violin and voice.

IOWA SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF—COUNCIL BLUFFS

The income for the support of this institution, and to meet the ordinary and current expenses, including the compensation of officials, teachers and other employees, the purchase of food, supplies, clothing, furniture and furnishings, books, maps, apparatus, and other expenses, is $24.00 a month for nine months of each year for each resident pupil actually supported by the school. Whenever the average number of pupils in any month is less than 275, the school is entitled to draw $6,600.00 from the state treasury. Therefore, the regular annual appropriation for the support of this institution is not less than $59,400.00.

Every resident not less than five or more than twenty-one years of age too deaf to be educated in the common schools, and every such person who is over twenty-one and under thirty-five years of age who has the consent of the board of control, is entitled to receive an education in the institution at the expense of the state. Non-residents similarly situated may be entitled to an education therein upon the payment of sixty-six dollars quarterly in advance.

The session of the school begins the first day of October and continues until the last day of June of each year. Pupils should come promptly at the beginning and remain until the end of the session.

All students who have talent in music are given a thorough course in this department. All students are required to do work in the industrial department.
